

Revival of Harbor Industries Seen by Mayor at Hearing

Heiselman in Plea for Deeper Roundout Creek Predicts Return of Industrial Harbor Enterprises with Improvements.

NO OPPOSITION

Army Engineer Hears Waterway Interests Favor Deeper Channel to Eddyville.

The deepening and widening of the channel in the Rondout creek from its mouth to Eddyville was advocated this morning by Mayor C. J. Heiselman appearing at the public hearing held by Major Clinton Ball of Albany, of the U. S. Army Engineers. Major Fairbanks of the New York area was also present at the hearing as it is his office which will finally draft the report as the result of the public hearing to be forwarded to Washington.

During the discussion it was brought out that the project approved on August 26, of this year, calls for the deepening of the channel from the mouth to the west end of the Island Dock, a distance of 1.5 miles above the mouth.

The existing project for this waterway provides for a channel 100 feet wide, widened at the bends and 14 feet deep from deep water in Hudson river to the Highway Bridge, 1 1/4 miles above the mouth, thence 12 feet deep to the west end of Island Dock, 1.3 miles above the mouth, two parallel dikes 350 feet apart, to maintain the channel, and for a branch dike to extend up-stream from the outer end of the north dikes to protect that dike from running ice in Hudson river.

City Asked to Contribute
Mayor Ball called attention to the fact that where new projects were suggested, and the deepening of the creek channel beyond the west end of the Island Dock to Eddyville was a new project, that the municipalities affected were expected to make a contribution to the cost of the work. The major asked Mayor Heiselman if he was prepared to make such a commitment.

Mayor Heiselman replied that as the proposed project was outside of the city limits and in the town of Ulster he would first have to obtain an opinion from the corporation counsel as to whether the city had the right to expend money on a project that was outside of the city.

Senator Arthur H. Wicks asked the major if it was customary for other places to make a contribution, and if the project along the Ohio and other rivers were partly paid for by municipalities.

Major Ball replied that they were. He asked if there was any one present representing the town of Ulster. There was not.

In opening the hearing Major Ball stated that the hearing had been called at the request of Mayor Heiselman, and the navigation and commercial interests affected had been invited to attend the hearing.

The major read a communication from the Cornell Steamboat Company stating that the dredging of the creek channel was necessary for the movement of vessels.

Wicks in Favor

Senator Arthur H. Wicks, who attended the hearing, said he desired to be recorded in favor of the proposed improvement as it would help industries along the Rondout creek and would develop Rondout Harbor.

Conway Favored It

Assemblyman J. Edward Conway also desired to be recorded as in favor of the project as it meant much for Kingston. He said the city was ideally situated for the development of port facilities.

The deepening of the channel meant that more new industries would undoubtedly locate along the creek. He called attention to the fact that every summer many pleasure yachts anchored off Eddyville and he believed that the carrying out of the project of deepening the creek channel was the first step forward in the development of the Rondout Harbor project.

Mayor in Favor

Mayor Heiselman, who was present at the hearing, was called upon by Mayor Ball, and said: "The proposed improvement of Rondout Harbor and Creek by the United States, under consideration for many years, should be undertaken as soon as possible and when completed would prove of untold value to the City of Kingston and its citizens, as well as the many shippers, boat building companies and 500 odd pleasure yachts that utilize this stream."

The Government itself, in the World War found it convenient to use the industries along the banks of this creek, and has spent a considerable sum on surveys and

King George VI Opens Parliament, Pledges Peace Aid

London, Oct. 26 (AP).—King George VI, an earnest figure in the splendid trappings of Britain's ancient majesty, pledged his government today to attempts to restore peace to China and Spain.

At the same time, the monarch promised air raid protection for all England and forecast more help for England's needy families.

He opened his first Parliament from the throne dais in the somber House of Lords—with Queen Elizabeth in a chair of state at his side—and concluded with this unusual benediction:

"I pray that under the blessings of Almighty God the outcome of your deliberations may advance the happiness and well being of my people and the peace of the world."

Usually the king merely "invokes a divine blessing on Parliament's labors". Otherwise, however, the speech delivered to the assembled members of Parliament in the musty grandeur of the House of Lords hewed to the usual formula.

Foreign Friendliness

It began with: "My relations with foreign powers continue to be friendly."

It told the legislators that the monarch had invited Belgium's King Leopold to visit him in November and Rumania's King Carol next spring.

Then it dealt with the spectacle of war on two continents.

"My ministers have followed with growing concern the continuance of conflict in Spain. It is their aim to do everything which lies in their power to assist toward restoration of peace among the Spanish people."

"They believe a strict application of the international policy of nonintervention in Spain will materially contribute to this end," the king declared.

Far East Position

"The position in the Far East will continue to engage the earnest attention of my government who will persist in their policy of attempting in cooperation with other governments, whether members of the League of Nations or not, to mitigate the suffering caused by the conflict and to bring it to a conclusion."

"Turning to the indefinitely postponed Indian durbar, George said he was looking forward "with interest and pleasure to the time when it will be possible for me to visit my Indian empire."

He dealt thus with Britain's vast rearmament program:

"With full cooperation of my people the work of expanding and equipping my defense forces now is proceeding rapidly. My ministers are anxious that energetic steps be taken to complete measures for the protection of the civilian population against air raids. A bill to put the necessary arrangements on a statutory basis will be brought forward for your consideration."

Terse reviewing domestic measures to be laid before Parliament, the King made special note that "the policy of improving housing conditions be energetically pushed."

Housing for Poor

It was recalled that housing for the poor would be the subject of study by the king's brother Edward, Duke of Windsor, on his self-appointed mission to the United States.

The sun had broken through cold, gray clouds a half hour before the start of today's state procession from Buckingham Palace to the House of Lords. Crowds had jammed into Parliament Square and Whitehall to cheer the passage of the great gold and glass state coach bearing King George and Queen Elizabeth.

Other hundreds jostled outside Buckingham and along the Mall. Guardsmen lining the procession route had covered their scarlet and blue uniforms lest the weather take a sudden turn.

The king was bareheaded during the procession. He wore the scarlet and gold uniform of a field marshal with the dark green ribbon of thistle across his tunic. Elizabeth wore a white fur cloak over her gown of royal gold lame.

Fire Essay Winners Get Prizes

Chief Joseph L. Murphy of the Kingston Fire Department (upper left) awards first prize for Fire Prevention Essay to Miss Anne de la Vergne of St. Ursula Academy, as Firemen William J. Geary, George Matthews, Arthur Fitzgerald and Joseph Cornelske stand by. Upper right, the chief gives second prize to Dorothy Coughlin of St. Joseph's Parochial School in the presence of Firemen Cornelske, Geary and Edward Gillen. Lower left Miss Edna Short of Public School No. 6, gets one of duplicate third prizes from the chief in the presence of B. C. Van Ingen, superintendent of schools. Lower right, Miss Constance Purvis of St. Peter's School is favored with another of the third prizes. The awards were given through the courtesy of the Kingston Paid Firemen's Association.

Last Friday afternoon, Fire Chief Murphy and Superintendent of Schools B. C. Van Ingen accompanied by a committee from the Kingston Paid Firemen's Association made a tour of the city schools and awarded the prizes for the best essays on the topic "Fire Prevention in the Home". In the recent contest sponsored by local firemen's organization.

All children in the seventh and eighth grades of any of the city schools, public and parochial alike were eligible to win any of the prizes which were. First, $5; second, $3, and third, $2. The judges, who were Mrs. Rose Witter and Miss Mary Noone, both former high school teachers could not determine which essay was the best for third prize so a duplicate award was made.

"I am very pleased with the interest shown by the pupils," said Chief Murphy. "It shows that these youngsters realize the danger of fire and know how to put the damper on this enemy of mankind."

Mr. Van Ingen was equally satisfied with the response given by the students.

First prize was awarded Miss Anne de la Vergne of the Academy of St. Ursula whose essay reads as follows:

An Ounce of Prevention
Back and forth: back and forth went Ellen Armstrong's iron arm which was pulling the iron after it. Just then a sound from behind her back made her whirl around. She saw Bobby reaching for the matches again. Bobby winced when he saw her and tried hard to conceal the matches which he held in his hand.

"Robert, how dare you! How many times have I told you to leave those matches alone. You'll get the house afire someday. Then what will we all do. Don't you ever touch those matches again."

Mrs. Armstrong hastily put the hot iron in the closet by some oily cleaning rags which had been carelessly stuffed away and went to make the beds. Soon she smelled smoke. She ran to the kitchen. Smoke was coming from the closet. She opened the door and the closet burst into flames.

Her husband had failed to buy a fire extinguisher. She could not remember where the fire alarm box was. Frankly she reported the fire over the telephone. The firemen came immediately and efficiently extinguished the fire before it spread and did much damage.

No more fires for the Armstrongs. The matches were placed out of reach of Bobby. Only rags were ever stuffed in the closet and the iron was always cooled before it was put away. Mr. Armstrong bought a fire extinguisher and put it in a handy place. All the house-

"Proven Untrue"

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 26 (AP).—Jurors trying the Rev. M. O. Johnson on a charge of murdering his estranged wife had before them the interdenominational evangelist's assertion that she shot her to death because she had "proven untrue". The preacher testified yesterday she also killed William R. Rue, 37-year-old salesman, with his wife in her home October 13 because he said, Rue had "broken up my home".

One Jump Ahead

Montreal, Oct. 26 (Canadian Press).—J. Edgar Hoover told the international world police convention today that the law must keep one jump ahead of the criminal. "It is our duty to prepare our traps before the various animals of depredation establish their game trails," said the chief of the U. S. Bureau of Investigation in a paper prepared for delivery before many law enforcement chiefs from many countries.

Example of Better Service At Less Cost In Kingston

Under Mayor Heiselman's administration, ashes, rubbish and garbage have been collected promptly and in a way that meets with the approval of householders.

Streets are regularly cleaned and flushed.

Public Works Department employees are efficient and courteous.

Every man takes pride in making his department an asset to the city.

The men are proud of the way in which they do their work. So is every other citizen.

Compare the facts and figures of 1928 with 1937:

Improved Service
Ash Collection	1928	1937
	Open wagons	Modern covered motor equipment
Garbage collection	2 times a week	3 times a week
Street cleaning	Some streets not cleaned regularly	All streets cleaned regularly
Less Cost
Tax rate	1928	1937	Saved for Taxpayer
	$40.60	$37.96	$2.64 per M.
Cost of ash collection	$38,200.00	$19,000.00	$19,200.00
Cost of garbage collection	15,000.00	9,700.00	5,300.00
Cost of street cleaning	36,300.00	24,200.00	12,100.00

These improved services affect every householder. These savings benefit every taxpayer and rentpayer. Do you wish to retain the progressive business administration of Mayor Heiselman? You will have an opportunity to say "Yes" on Election Day.

CIO Offers Peace To AF of L, Giving Lewis All Control

Washington, Oct. 26 (AP).—The Committee for Industrial Organization proposed today a reconciliation with the American Federation of Labor on a basis which a CIO leader said probably would give John L. Lewis control of the Federation.

Lewis' ten-man delegation, negotiating for peace with the Federation, suggested creation of a new CIO department within the Federation which would be authorized to organize workers in mass production, marine, public utilities, service and basic fabricating industries.

On a basis of membership claimed by the rival organizations, the CIO would have 3,718,000 members in the Federation, compared with approximately 2,200,000 workers the Federation now claims.

"This seems to us to be a case where we would control the Federation by sheer strength of numbers," said Lee Pressman, CIO general counsel.

"We think this proposal puts final settlement of the issue up to the other side. The Federation conferees can not afford to accept or reject our offer immediately."

Green Not Available

William Green, Federation president, could not be reached immediately for comment. His associates said he probably would make no statement until after he had discussed the matter with the Federation's three-man delegation to the conference.

The CIO proposal would keep such powerful graft unions as the machinists and electricians out of such industries as steel, automobiles and radios. The CIO also would require the A. F. of L. to turn over to its CIO department control of dozens of small unions.

The CIO department would stand alongside three other departments that the A. F. of L. now has but would have far greater authority and independence. The other departments were organized by the building trades, metal trades, and railway trades, to promote their common interests.

Acceptance Improbable

Although the A. F. of L. reaction was not made known immediately, the Federation's general sentiment, as expressed at the recent Denver convention made unqualified acceptance appear improbable.

The CIO submitted its proposal at the start of the third session of the conference after agreeing to deal with the A. F. of L. three-man peace committee headed by George M. Harrison, president of the railway clerks.

Text of Proposals

The text of the CIO proposal follows:

"1.—The American Federation of Labor shall declare as one of its basic policies that the organization of the workers in the mass production, marine, public utilities service and basic fabricating industries be effectuated only on an industrial basis.

"2.—There shall be created within the American Federation of Labor a department to be known as the CIO. All of the national and international unions and local industrial unions, now affiliated with the CIO, shall be affiliated with such new department. This department shall be completely autonomous, operating under its own departmental constitution and shall be directed by its own properly designated officers.

"This department shall have the complete and sole jurisdiction in regard to (a) the organization of the workers in the industries described in point '1' above, and also (b) any matters affecting its affiliated organization and their members.

"3.—There shall be called at such time and at such place as may be agreed upon between the American Federation of Labor and the Committee for Industrial Organization, a national convention which shall be attended by all of the national and industrial unions affiliated with the A. F. of L. and the CIO. This convention shall be called for the purpose of approving the foregoing agreement and for working out the necessary rules and regulations to effectuate the same and to guarantee the fulfillment of the program.

Montague Takes Stand, Protests His Innocence Today

Elizabethtown, N. Y., Oct. 26

(AP) "Mysterious" John Montague, who puzzled Hollywood by his reticence, told a jury today he was innocent of a robbery charge, and fled New York state because his clothing was found in a holdup man's automobile.

Denying participation in the even year old $700 robbery of Kin Hana's Jay, N. Y., roadhouse, Montague, known in Syracuse, N. Y., as Laverne Moore, said he was "ashamed" of his connection with the case.

Montague said he "was not and am not" ashamed of the name Moore, but assumed the name John Montague in 1930 because it was "different" from his real name.

The defense rested its case after Montague's testimony, which required two hours. Summons were called for after the noon recess, with both sides predicting the case would go to the jury before nightfall.

The defendant took the stand abruptly after listening to the reading of depositions from his seven colony friends as to his good character and honesty.

Brief Examination

Direct examination by James M. Noonan, of Albany, chief defense counsel, required only four minutes, and consisted mainly of a categorical denial by Montague that he had been in the vicinity of the Hana roadhouse the night of the robbery.

Montague chuckled as he recalled, under his attorney's questioning, that he once had been fined $5 for stealing cherries.

Presiding Judge Harry E. Owen twice rebuked Montague for attempting to amplify answers instead of replying "yes" or "no."

During a 10-minute recess, photographers swarmed into the little old-fashioned court room and the once "Mysterious Monty" willingly posed on the witness stand.

"Was there any time in Hollywood that you played a lot of golf?" Prosecutor McDonald began after the recess.

"There was," Montague said. "And did you object to photographers taking pictures of you?"

"I did."

"And did you once 'smash a photographer's camera'?"

"I did not. I took out the slide."

"You were afraid you might be identified if your picture was taken?"

"Possibly so."

Heiselman Offers Proof Democratic Mayoralty Candidate Made Untrue Statements About Water Dept.

LOCAL BOARDS

Cites List of Persons Named to Local Boards in Proof of Competence.

Branding as malicious, misleading and false the statements made by his Democratic opponent during the present mayoralty campaign, Mayor C. J. Heiselman delivered a stinging rebuke to Judge Culloton for the judges unjustified attack on the integrity and ability of the representative men and women of Kingston who Mayor Heiselman has appointed to public office during the past four years. The mayor also attacked the "political lies" of the Democrats in regard to the water rates, proving them false and branded as a false statement the judge's utterances on the treatment of the Forst plant. Mayor Heiselman handled the judge, for the first time during the campaign, without gloves and said that the campaign staged by the judge and the Democratic party was degenerating into a mudslinging contest on the part of the Democrats. The mayor was speaking at the Republican rally held in St. Mary's hall on North street Monday night.

As Mayor Heiselman entered the hall last night he was greeted with tremendous applause by the audience and every seat in the building, with many forced to stand, Mayor Heiselman said.

In a speech last Thursday night my opponent, according to the press, charged that I had failed to appoint vacancies with competent persons and that I had failed to appoint capable citizens as members of the various city boards.

My opponent, in making this false and malicious charge, is not only exhibiting poor taste but poor political judgment, as well.

The citizens of this city have noticed and commented upon the improved municipal services we have performed in the various city departments. Our working forces are better trained and more competent than they have ever been before. It requires competency to do a job well, and our departmental officers and employees have done their job well, as the public knows. I am proud of the record which these public servants have made. They, as well as their friends and relatives, will resent my opponent's charge that they are incompetent and unfit.

I resent, too, the slap in the face which the city judge has dealt to my appointees in claiming that they are not capable. These board members played an important part in making the record of accomplishment which has been established in Kingston during the four years of my administration.

These board members are outstanding citizens of this community, giving of their time, without compensation, in service to the city.

I list below those whom I have appointed during my term of office. I considered them at the time of their several appointments qualified by character, experience and devotion to public service as qualified to discharge their duties with credit to themselves, benefit to the city, and honor to me.

I again affirm my confidence in and respect for them, when they have been falsely branded as incapable by my reckless opponent.

In order that the public may know who I have appointed to the various boards, I list them below, in order that the voters may decide for themselves if I have fallen down in my duty, as my opponent has charged, by failing to appoint capable people to the city boards:

Mayor's Appointees

Mark Bacharach, Fire Board.
Harry Beck, Board of Health.
James H. Betts, Civil Service Commission.
Louis G. Bruhn, Board of Health.

David Burgevin, Tree Committee.
Dr. Charles D. Carter, Board of Public Welfare and Emergency Relief Bureau.

Mrs. Leon E. Chambers, Bureau of Child Hygiene.
Sidney Clapp, Tree Committee.
James E. Connelly, Alderman of Ninth Ward.

Vincent Connelly, Zoning Board.
Dr. William H. Connelly, Police Board.

Mrs. John N. Cordts, Tree Committee.
Dr. Arthur M. Cragin, Board of Education.

Mrs. Joseph F. Deegan, Board of Health.

Good Government Heiselman Scores Under Heiselman, Culleton Charges Declares Cahill

"The sincerity shown by Mayor Heiselman in behalf of all of the people in Kingston during the last four years, and the sincerity shown by him in all of his talks to the people of Kingston during the campaign assures his reelection next Tuesday at the polls," said Attorney Matthew V. Cahill, the Republican candidate for city judge, speaking at the big Republican rally held Monday evening in St. Mary's Hall on North Street.

Attorney Cahill stressed the importance of continuing the sound business government of the city has experienced during the four years with Mayor Heiselman at the head, and urged that the entire Republican ticket be elected on November 2.

Assistant District Attorney N. LeVan Haver said that the Democratic machine in Kingston was heading every effort to elect its candidate for mayor. That was the one office they seek to obtain and the reason for that was to see for the office of mayor carried with it considerable so-called patronage for the mayor was the man who had to make the various appointments to the city's boards and departments. Since in the history of the city, said Mr. Haver, had there been better government of the city than under Mayor Heiselman. He had reduced the tax rate and he had given improved municipal services at less cost.

Attorney Louis G. Bruhn, president of the Republican City Club, urged the reelection of Mayor Heiselman. He had carried the city successfully through four years of the darkest history in this country. During those four years he had seen to it that no one went hungry or without the necessities of life. He had accomplished all this and at the same time had given the city such sound business government that the tax rate had been the lowest in 10 years. Every resident of Kingston paid taxes, either directly or indirectly. That fact should not be forgotten, and there had never been a better administration where the taxpayer's dollar had not been carefully expended. The record of the past four years under the Heiselman administration was one to be proud of.

Deputy City Clerk Nelson W. Snyder called attention to the important part taxes played in city government. A lower tax rate meant better living conditions. The first thing a new industry seeking another location asked when invited to locate in the city was "What is your tax rate?"

Supervisor Ashby, the Republican candidate to succeed himself in the Fifth ward, presided at the meeting. The last meeting will be held next Monday evening at the same hour in the same place.

Following the speaking program, last night refreshments were served.

AFL AND CIO TALK PEACE

George Harrison (left), chairman of the American Federation of Labor committee, exchanges a handshake with Philip Murray, leader of a Committee for Industrial Organization group, at the meeting in Washington, D. C., designed to heal the breach between the two labor bodies.

lly with a dozen faucets pays $28 a year.

The truth of the matter is that water rates to householders are lower now than when I became Mayor in 1934, because sprinkling permits have been reduced during this administration from $3 to $2 per annum.

My opponent claims that one of the large industries in the lower end of the city has been discriminated against. This also is not true. The concern to which he refers, the Forst Packing Co., has been making plans to obtain part of their water supply from driven wells in all probability this is being done in the interest of economical management of their business. The Water Board has not discriminated in dealing with any of our mercantile concerns and the Forst plant is given the lowest meter rate, which has been established for only the largest users of water. Mercantile concerns are all on a meter basis.

Is my opponent in a better position to determine what to do in matters affecting the water supply than the members of the Water Board, all of whom have had experience in handling the Water Department?

My opponent claims that the Forst Company offered the Water Board a flat water rate of $2,400. This is also a false statement. I have checked both with the Water Department and the Forst Company and I find that this statement is not true. What's more the Water Department has no flat mercantile rate for any business.

No one needs to tell me how valuable the Forst industry is to the city of Kingston. I know what their problems have been and I appreciate the opportunities for employment which the plant has consistently given to several hundred of our citizens. I appointed Henry Forst, and he was associated with me in serving the city as chairman of the Emergency Relief Bureau and as a member of the Board of Public Works. He is a splendid and loyal public servant and devoted himself unselfishly and unstintingly to the civic betterment of this community. I have encouraged and helped his industry and will always be ready and willing to do it again. Knowing the Forst management as well as I do, however, I am sure that they would not be in favor of any discrimination.

Who Paid? The City

Mayor Heiselman called attention to another advertisement of the Democratic party charging that the Heiselman administration had only lowered the tax rate because of the huge sums that the Federal and State governments had spent in the city and were speaking from the record disproved the statements as being false and misleading.

The Judge says that the taxes were lowered because of Federal aid, said Mayor Heiselman, but how about the Police Department. The present administration installed the radio system and other improvements to the police system in the city. Now when you need a policeman he is there. The mayor said that since the radio system had been installed it meant better and more efficient police service. Illustrating his remarks he said that last summer a little girl who had been at one of the city parks ran home and said there was a bad man in the park. He was wearing a red sweater. The mother called the police, the police sent the alarm out over the radio, the radio car was on the spot and had the man under arrest before he had time to escape from the park.

"Who paid for this improvement to the police service of the city? It was not paid from Federal or State funds; the taxpayers of Kingston paid for it."

Look at the improvements made in the fire department we now have a system of flood lights on all of our fire stations. The firemen can work more efficiently. Who paid for this? The people of Kingston.

When I assumed office the Board of Public Works had but little equipment. In fact I think they had three old trucks. Today we have some 43 pieces of modern and up-to-date equipment. Who paid for this equipment? It was not paid with Federal or State funds. The people of Kingston paid for it out of the money collected in taxes.

Go through every department of the city and you will find better and more efficient equipment which has been given the city at lower costs. And who paid for it? You people of Kingston paid for it. Not a cent of Federal and State funds were used for that purpose.

My opponent makes some more wild statements to hand to the voters of Kingston in his frantic attempt to tear down the constructive job which has been accomplished in this city during the past four difficult years.

First, he claims that the Water Board has increased the water rates of householders during my administration. That is not true. The rates were re-established but not increased.

I became Mayor in 1934. In 1935 the rates on first faucets were reduced $2. In 1937 the former rate was re-established in order to pay for the new million gallon equalizing standpipe which was recently completed. This standpipe was necessary in order to insure proper fire protection by equalizing the water pressure in the city and to bring water to the various high points of the city. During the summer of 1936 water pressures at the central gauge in the rear of the city had fallen at times as low as 25 pounds, which was dangerous so far as fire is concerned and inconvenient as far as residents are concerned. The situation was so bad, sprinkling hoses had to be staggered. The erection of the standpipe raised this pressure to 55 pounds and keeps it there. This means increased safety and service to all.

The water rate on the first faucet when I became Mayor in 1934 was $6 a year. The rate now is still $6 a year. The rate is still $6 a year.

My opponent states "The family with one faucet is paying as much as the family with a dozen." This statement is absolutely false. Under the existing rates of the Water Board the family with one faucet pays $6 a year. The family with a dozen faucets pays $28 a year.

the city for hospital care for the needy in 1935 with the vastly increased costs paid by the city in 1936. The same condition applied to other agencies for the relief of those in need. Welfare work had increased in the city, and the costs were borne by the city. Of the $100,000 that had been spent for home relief the city had paid $60,000 and the state had contributed $40,000.

Turning to the WPA program the mayor said that federal funds had been used, but it should not be forgotten that the city had to furnish the materials and equipment used as well as the engineering details.

During the past four years the administration had stood by those in need in the city. The city had spent a million dollars for all forms of relief, and he believed that the city administration had done its full share.

"Another Falsehood"

Another falsehood is the insinuation that the new intermediate school will not be deeproof. "That's a damnable insinuation," said the mayor. "You watch the new school as it is being built and you will see that the foundations are to be of concrete and the walls of solid brick—Hudson river brick. The education board could have saved some $5,000 by having the inner walls of hollow tile but the board and myself decided that no hollow tile should come into Kingston but that the school should be built of brick made by our local industries and it will be constructed of brick from top to bottom. The school will have a slate roof. The floors will be built of concrete and the stairways of iron.

Before we could go ahead and build this school the plans had to be approved by the state education department. Do you for one minute think that the state would approve of any school building being constructed that was not safe?

The airport terminal building on Treasure Island, site of the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition, will provide ticket offices, weather bureau, waiting rooms, customs office and hotel accommodations for the new San Francisco Airport.

SHANDAKEN

Shandaken, Oct. 25.—Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Brown, and son, Raymond, are visiting friends in Syracuse for several days.

Mrs. W. C. Hummel, daughter Margaret, and son Charles, were among the Kingston visitors on Friday, also Mrs. F. S. Osterhoudt, and daughter Peggy.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Holden called on Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Cleveland on Sunday.

Mrs. C. E. Wood and Mrs. James S. Ford, and son, Bobbie, were Kingston visitors on Friday.

A severe rain storm visited this section on Friday night and Saturday, flooding many cellars. It is reported that five inches of rain fell during that time. No damage to the highways has been reported. A steam shovel belonging to the Kingston Construction Co. on the Lexington-Shandaken highway undermined and fell over.

The turkey supper held in the church hall on Thursday night under the auspices of the men of the church and community was a decided success. A large crowd attended. The proceeds were over $100.

Mr. and Mrs. Barrington Wright, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., who have been sojourning here among the folks during the summer and fall, with his handsome trailer, left for Detroit last week to purchase a new Packard. On his return they will leave for the south soon, depending on the weather conditions.

The airport terminal building on Treasure Island, site of the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition, will provide ticket offices, weather bureau, waiting rooms, customs office and hotel accommodations for the new San Francisco Airport.

Dewey "Calls" for Fingerprints of Marinelli Aids to Charles F. Kaiser

New York, Oct. 26 (AP)—A charge that fingerprints of aides of Albert Marinelli, New York county clerk, might show 10 or 30 "men with criminal records" and "one or two fugitives from justice" came from special racket prosecutor Thomas E. Dewey today as New York's municipal campaign raced down the home stretch.

The Tammany district leader was challenged by Dewey, candidate for district attorney and running mate of Mayor Fiorella H. LaGuardia, to answer with fingerprints Dewey's charges that Marinelli was a "political ally of thieves, pickpockets, thugs, dope peddlers and big-shot racketeers."

While these charges, answered by the clerk, filled the air, Harold W. Hastings, Dewey's Democratic opponent, pointed to a board of elections report of $92,368 contributed or spent on behalf of Dewey as the largest of any candidate.

To add further to the confusion of the campaign, Park Commissioner Robert Morse broke away from the city administration's ticket to oppose the candidacy of Joseph D. McGoldrick for the office of comptroller.

Still Favors La Guardia

Morse said, however, he still favored Fusionist LaGuardia for reelection as mayor but that he would support Frank J. Taylor, running mate of Tammany-supported Jeremiah T. Mahoney, for the comptrollership.

Postmaster-General James A. Farley, meanwhile, prepared to make his first speech tonight in support of Mahoney for the mayoralty.

The mayor, paying scant heed to the Mahoney charges that he was "lawless, promise-breaking, and rabble-rousing," turned his guns on Tammany as being full of "ignorance, inertia and incompetence."

Dewey, in challenging Marinelli to give up fingerprints of his district committeemen and election inspectors, said he believed some fifteen other Marinelli aides, in addition to the previous "20 or 30," had criminal records but that he had not included these because identification had not been positive.

He said that if the New York clerk had submitted the fingerprints three years ago "for the federal government, his personal chauffeur might have been picked up as a fugitive."

In connection with the campaign expenditures, the elections report showed that $6,945 had been contributed to Hastings' fund, while Harry F. Guggenheim, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and John D. Rockefeller, 3rd, were listed as having contributed $2,500 each to Dewey's campaign.

AGRICULTURE

Dairymen generally spend about two-thirds more time each day in caring for the herd in winter than in the pasture season.

Uncle Ab says it is better to be in the game than on the sidelines; but even on the sidelines you can at least yell for your side.

Because of high beef prices and relatively high feed prices, now is said to be a good time for close culling of the dairy herd.

Only a few cats are good at catching rats, and small female cats are said to be more efficient raters than are large tom cats.

No poultry house should be without lights; and when once started in the fall, to help control egg production, light must be continued regularly until about April 1.

A standard, or goal, at which to aim each month is offered poultrymen who use Cornell's poultry calendar. Single copies may be had free by writing to the New York State College of Agriculture at Ithaca, New York. Ask for bulletin E-185.

Wawarsing Voters Are Now Turning to Charles F. Kaiser

CHARLES F. KAISER, JR.

Charles F. Kaiser, Jr., capable, good-natured and far from anaemic attorney and Police Justice of the village of Ellenville, nominated by the Republicans to oppose Tuthill McDowell for the office of supervisor of the town of Wawarsing, is reported to be making a strong canvass and causing no little concern to the hitherto supposedly invincible Democratic war-lord and his supporters in the southern Ulster town.

Voters are said to be taking kindly to the genial personality of the Republican candidate, who not only has behind him the united support of the members of his own party, but, it is rumored, is also being backed, more or less openly, by many who normally might be counted to line up on the other side, but who are reported to be far from satisfied with the conduct of affairs of late in the town of Wawarsing.

Those favoring Judge Kaiser's candidacy have been making free use of the advertising columns of the local papers and have been laying particular emphasis in the heavy increase in the tax burdens that have been placed upon the town in recent years. Supervisor McDowell is also being brought to task for his part in the disastrous attack upon County Superintendent of Highways Loughran. It is being charged that this action was not only a gross display of party politics and an attempt to discredit the Civil Service laws of the state, but also added needless and unjustified cost to the county of Ulster amounting to nearly $6,000.

Although a comparative newcomer to Ellenville, coming to that town in the spring of 1930 following his graduation from Albany Law School, Mr. Kaiser has made an extensive acquaintance through his steadily growing legal business and his participation in matters of social and community interest. He has devoted considerable time to furthering the work of the Boy Scouts in the Rondout Valley and is a former president and at present one of the vice-presidents of the District organization. He is a familiar figure at the annual meetings of the Scout organization. He has taken a practical interest in fireman affairs, not only as a member of the Scoresby Hose and Hook and Ladder Co. of Ellenville, but as a member of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association. Fraternally he is a member of Wawarsing Lodge No. 582, F. & A. M., at present Senior Warden of his lodge, and is also a member of the Masonic Club. In addition to his other activities Mr. Kaiser is a Granger, holding membership in the Grange at Accord.

Following the death of Van R. Moffit, Mr. Kaiser was appointed to the position of police justice in the village of Ellenville, later being elected for a four-year term.

He is still filling the position which he assumed in August, 1933. He has conducted his court with dignity and ability, litigants have testified to his fairness and sympathy and despite the many cases brought before him he has never been reverted by a higher court.

Mr. Kaiser is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Kaiser of Youngsville, where his parents located after the elder Kaiser had retired from the contracting business in New York city. Charley attended the public school at Youngsville, the Liberty High School and then entered the Albany Law School, from which he graduated in June, 1930.

Mr. Kaiser came directly to Ellenville following his graduation from the law school and passed his clerkship in the law office of District Attorney Cleon B. Murray. He was admitted to the bar in November, 1932, began the practice of law for himself and has since continued to carry on an independent practice. Despite the fact that he has had to make his start in depression times and under extremely adverse economic conditions, he carried on and has built up for himself a sound practice and achieved a reputation for honesty and fair dealing that is standing him in good stead as he solicits the support of the voters of the town of Wawarsing for the position to which he has been named.

Melodrama and Pulchritude Mark "Gaieties" Friday

Feminine pulchritude when gorgeously arrayed is always an attraction, but when you see the bearded, befeathered, bustled, and plumed ladies in the Junior League's presentation of "The Gaieties of 1883," which is to be staged Friday evening, October 29, at the New York State Armory, Manor avenue, all will agree that Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed as one of these. But all is not a dress parade of that period, for in the melodrama around which the evening's entertainment is woven are nine amusingly painted scenic backgrounds for the dozen episodes of that side-splitting old piece.

In the melodrama one may see the sweet and innocent heroine (Mrs. Harry R. LeFevre, Jr.) and the seductive slave girl (Miss Elizabeth Betz). Mrs. Berthold Knauth plays an interesting character role, that of an old half-breed servant, and Mrs. Burton Davis is the virtuous heroine's girl friend. The dastardly villain is John Burgevin and Burton Davis, abetted by Leo Herbert and Irving Rose. Harry LeFevre, Jr., is the dashing hero and Albert Milliken, thrillingly portrays a sea captain in the service of Her Majesty, The Queen. There is continuous action and a thrill in every scene. The setting of this fantastic play goes from an idyllic countryside in England, aboard an English gunboat across the sea to the tropical isle of Santo Domingo and back to merry England again, taking in every known melodramatic situation, including fights with pirates, murders, thwarted marriages, heart breaking love scenes, but with virtue always triumphing over villainy in the end.

Tickets may be procured from any Junior League member or by phoning 2941.

Here Is What's Happening On Wall Street Today

By The Q-F Feature Service

These are frantic days on the floor of New York's Stock Exchange. But however excited the brokers get—and from the gallery it sometimes looks like bedlam—operations follow a well defined routine. Here's how it works:

FILLING ORDERS
Specialists who handle deals in specific stocks have their definite posts on the floor. Traders with orders to buy or sell those stocks flock to the posts—stamped them on hectic days.

THEY FLIP
When rivals make bids or offers all at once, priority is determined by matching coins. It's just too bad when a client wanting to sell gets a wire from his broker: "Matched and lost." The coins often are handed from father to son.

KEEPING TRACK
The quotation boy (left) takes down latest bid and asked prices and relays them, by his portable head phone, to brokers in their offices. The ticker reporter (right) notes sales as they take place in his area.

TELLING THE WORLD
Operators like this one feed the stock news to the tickers that click all over the nation. They get their information on slips that speed from the ticker reporters through pneumatic tubes to this room.

HONORED SCRAP
Though millions may be involved, brokers' transactions are conducted as gentlemen's agreements. As aids to memory, figures are scribbled on slips, tossed to the floor when the deal is recorded. But the real clerical work on busy days keeps staffs busy far into the night.

ASHOKAN
Ashokan, Oct. 25—Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds Bishop of "The Inn" were recent callers on Messdames Margaret Rainy and Julia Hogan in Shokan.
Mrs. Charlotte Cudney, of Kingston, is convalescing at the home of her friend, Mrs. Seymour Winnie.
Mrs. Leah Van Ben Schoten, formerly of Shokan, now residing in Albuquerque, N. M., receives the local news items from Mrs. William Green weekly.
Miss Ruby Cure, of Kenosia, Lake, who taught the Sawkill school for the past seven years has recently acted as substitute teacher in Glasco and Blue Mountain.
Mr. and Mrs. Harold Place, of Flushing, spent their two weeks vacation in the cottage in Carl's son camp. Mrs. Place will be remembered as Miss Laura Place of Mountain road.

MILTON

Milton, Oct. 25—Miss Anna Clarke is planning to start for Florida after Thanksgiving Day where she will spend the winter.
The Marlborough Free Library will be able to open at once if the voters of the town will only vote yes on the library proposition that is to be submitted to the public on Election Day. Only voters owning property can vote on the question. After the people have spent so much on both Milton and Marlborough libraries it would be too bad to have them fail to open because of your vote. Certainly the town of Marlborough and its citizens would benefit from the use of the libraries. The Sarah Hull Hallock Library at Milton will benefit from the proposition if it is favorably received by the taxpayers. The proposition asks that $1,000 be raised by tax on the entire town. This would be but a small sum for each tax payer on his taxes and would hardly be noticed. Each library would receive half, that is $500 for Milton and a like sum for Marlborough.

The first fall meeting of the Milton Choral Club under the expert direction of J. Collins Lingo, music supervisor of the Central School District, was held on Tuesday evening, October 19, in the Milton Grange Hall at 8 p. m. It was decided by the members present to hold future meetings on Wednesday evenings. Their decision however does not start to function until the first November meeting. This is due to the school Halloween party being held at the school on Wednesday evening, October 27. Because of this the meeting will be held on Tuesday evening, October 26. Plans were made for choral work to be put on this winter. Mrs. James Scott will act as pianist again this year. Mrs. Scott has acted in this capacity since the club was formed.

For the first time in six weeks Charles Bertilina of Milton, who was injured in a baseball game, has been able to leave his home and enjoy the out of doors. Although he is not able to walk without assistance he is improving enough to get about. The cast is still on protecting the right leg which was fractured.

The first fire drill in the new school building in Marlborough was held Thursday morning. Board members and the principal, E. L. Dalby, are proud of the record made by the school children when the building was emptied in less than two minutes. This is an excellent record considering the size of the building and the number of students attending, something to be proud of.

A meeting of the Sarah Hull Hallock Library board was held Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Grover C. Ferguson. The evening hours for the library during the winter months will be Tuesday and Thursday from 6:30 to 8 o'clock.

Literary tests for new voters were given on Tuesday, October 26, and will be on Thursday, October 28, and all day Election Day, November 2. On Tuesday and Thursday the hour will be from 4 until 8 p. m. On November 2 the hours are from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m. The tests were given under the supervision of E. L. Dalby, school principal of the Marlborough school. They will be held in both Milton and Marlborough schools.

Pheasant season opened Monday morning, October 18, for 10 days. There seemed to be plenty of bunting Monday but whether all the shot fired meant pheasants brought down or not, we don't know.

Miss Helen Hamm of Jersey City spent the week-end with friends in Milton.

Miss Marjorie Woolsey of Brooklyn spent the week-end with Mrs. William Covert.

Mrs. Eula Hallock is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Ralph Greenlaw, in West Englewood, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. William Donaldson attended the turkey dinner and entertainment in the Highland Methodist Church, Thursday evening, October 21. Mr. Donaldson was guest soloist.

Miss Laura Arentzen of New York city was a recent guest of Miss Rachel Clarke. Miss Clarke spent this week-end in New York with Miss Arentzen.

Mr. and Mrs. James Eckerson, Miss Marie Abruzzese and Patrick Mataraza motored to Ithaca on Saturday and spent the week-end with Miss Rita Abruzzese who is attending Cornell University.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ernst and daughter, Ruth, spent Sunday in Grambsville.

Joseph Alfano, assistant cashier in the Milton National Bank is driving a new Chevrolet car.

With winding up of the grape season the past week just preceding heavy frosts, the Hudson Valley Pure Food Company completed grinding 2,000 tons of Concord grapes last Thursday. The Hudson River Fruit Exchange of Milton completed its pulp operation Tuesday night. A total well over 3,500 barrels of grape pulp were processed at the Milton plant. The Milton plant worked fast despite its late start in respect to the grape season. The Hudson Valley Wine Company also finished grinding the first of last week. All of the local companies were satisfied with the abundant supply of grapes and in turn the growers were satisfied that there was a good demand for their product.

Mrs. Anna Brown of Clintondale is ill at the home of her nephew, William Lais.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur B. Sinclair of Brooklyn spent the week-end at the home of Mr. Sinclair's sister, Mrs. Jane W. Clark.

Alonso Haver visited his sister, Mrs. Mary J. Beesmer, and family, in Samsonville Sunday.
The many friends of Mrs. Francis Merrihew, of Krumville, in vacation in the cottage in Carl's son camp, Mrs. Place will be remembered as Miss Laura Place of Mountain road.

DESTRUCTIVE CRITICISM

Democratic candidates are having a difficult time in attempting to make local citizens believe that something wrong exists in the administration of the city's affairs under Republican officials. They are resorting to destructive criticism, because they have nothing tangible to offer. And the reason —the Heiselman administration is doing everything that can be done to make Kingston a more progressive city.

The Democratic Party offers no plan for better government, no program for improvements and no budget for a lower tax rate. Nothing is offered but criticism, which has sprung up since the election campaign started. It is easy to condemn anything but not so easy to condemn it and then offer a solution for its betterment.

The Heiselman administration is protecting the interests of the taxpayers and the rent-payers. The administration has kept faith with the people and the achievements speak for themselves. The records of the city under the Republican administration show the tax rate lowered, the necessary bond issues sold at a very advantageous rate and no necessary improvements and conditions overlooked.

Basing judgment on this record,
 the voter knows he can entrust public business to the same administration.

TAX LEGISLATION

The coming session of Congress is expected to do something about taxes, but nothing very specu-lar. The chief interest along this line is in the capital gains tax, the undistributed profits tax and the personal income tax.

There has been strong opposition to the first of these, on the ground that it tends to freeze up investments gaining in value.
 People hesitate to sell because they would have to take so big a slice out of their profits. This opposition especially in securities and real estate. It is argued that abolition or reduction of this tax would make investments more liquid, keep prices under better control and bring more money into the federal treasury.

The undistributed profits tax, enacted at the last session of Congress, has not brought in so much revenue as was expected. It is accused of forcing business corporations to disburse so much of their income that they have no back-log left for expansion or hard times. There is some expectation that it will be modified.

As for the personal income tax,
 the big incomes are paying about as much now as they can stand, so the top brackets will probably not be touched. Moderate increases are expected in the rates on medium incomes—those from $4,000 to $10,000. The base might be broadened a little to take in some small change from people now exempt.

FALL MOTORING

"Watch your driving during the Fall months," is the advice given motorists by Motor Vehicle Commissioner Harnett.

Damp leaves are responsible for a great number of skidding accidents since the slippery surfaces can easily send a speeding car off the road. It is also well to avoid piles of leaves where children are likely to be playing.

Motorists should adjust their driving habits to meet the hazards these new conditions present.

In New York state for the first seven months of the year 1,863 persons were killed, 69,237 were injured in 53,352 automobile accidents representing an increase of more than 18 per cent in fatalities over the corresponding months of last year.

The most dangerous act of the motorist is listed as exceeding the speed limit. It would be well to keep in mind that that reduced speed always lessens the probability of accidents.

SAFE HUNTING

The American Red Cross, which has established many highway first aid stations, is now undertaking a new safety work. It seeks to protect hunters from themselves and from careless fellow-hunters. So far the association's work is primarily a warning, a list of things a hunter should or should not do in order to prevent accidents. "Hunting accidents caused 2,000 deaths in 1936," says an official of the Red Cross, as an introduction to the rules for safe hunting. Then:

Don't pull a gun carelessly from an automobile.
 Remove your shells before crawling through a fence.
 Don't use a gun to club game
 from the brush.
 Don't carry your gun cocked.
 Never point a weapon at any one in fun.
 Don't deploy ahead of inexperience
 hunters.
 Don't leave a gun where children can reach it.
 Don't leave a loaded gun in the house.
 Don't allow the gun muzzle to clog with mud or snow.
 Deer hunters should wear red coats or hats, because deer don't.

Several of those rules should be taken to heart by the people who don't hunt but who keep guns in their homes. The gun that everybody thought wasn't loaded has been a death-dealing weapon in the hands of both children and adults.

Two's Company

Nina marries David, trying to escape from her intense love for her stepfather.
 Richard, the charming, welltutored stepfather, tried to prevent her marriage.
 Honey, Nina's gay, plump, youthful mother, is crazy about Richard, her recently acquired husband.
 David, a young auto salesman who wooed Nina, elopes with her—at Nina's suggestion.

Chapter 20
 Apartment Bargain

BEFORE they started apartment hunting, David sat her down in front of him, and talked at her.
 "Now listen, baby, a lot of things are bound to come up that are going to need adjusting. What do you say we look ahead a little,
 right now... and forestall them?"
 "Fine. What things, darling... money things?"
 "Um-m, mostly."
 "Well, right here I want to say that although Daddy left all his money to Honey she's always given me an allowance from it, and I know she'll want to go on.
 We can use that towards a nice apartment..."

Here her husband interrupted.
 "That's one of the things, sweetheart. You can use your money for all the personal pretties you want, that's none of my business; but food, rent, living expenses, that's little David's affair. Definitely...
 Okay?"
 "Of course, okay, darling," quickly. She had known he would feel that way really... but it did seem silly.

"And it won't include caviar for breakfast... or at any time, for that matter. We're poor, Nina.
 Fifty bucks a week means $50 a month for an apartment. It will seem like being a pauper to you.
 But you knew it beforehand, didn't you?... Didn't you?"
 His brown eyes were pleading.
 "Oh, David..." She got up and went over to him. Into his arms.
 "Oh, David..."

But David's attitude was not one of humble, self-abasement.
 He wasn't making much now—
 but he was young, and would do better. Nina had cast her lot with him, and there was nothing for either of them to feel sorry or ashamed about.

A Friend In McDuff
 THEY took the first apartment they saw, partly because it was a good bargain, and partly because the superintendent was such an engaging fellow.
 When he pushed open the door into the tiny, dark cubicle of a hall, and paused, dramatically...
 David said, from the rear: "Lead on, McDuff!"

But the superintendent held his ground.
 "Madam," he said, grandly, with a hand flourish, "you are now in the foyer!"
 Well, that was right. Nina was being in the middle. But David was sure he had hit on the outer vestibule, and their guide was bulging over into the parlor.

The elegantly named "foyer" was all of three by three.
 "Very nice," said Nina, graciously, and the man led on.
 There was a living-room—not a bad size really, and a small bedroom, and a still even smaller kitchen, and a tinier than that bath.

Certain features that practically brought the tears to the superintendent's eyes, were the incinerator in the kitchen and a chandelier with many knobs and coils, in the center of the living-room.
 "No-o-o-o-o-o," he said, impressively, and made them stand and look at it.

The apartment was in a new elevator building, between Lexington and Third, on 48th St.
 McDuff, the superintendent—his name really was McDuff—explained to them that these extremely spacious rooms, with their fine view of the court and the delivery entrance, so that there was a cross ventilation, usually rented for $80 a month;
 but since they absolutely refused to pay a cent more than $50 he was sure to get them, he was willing to let it out, at that ridiculously low figure, on a month to month basis, just to have someone in it.

That was to say, that the apartment would have to be open for inspection at all times, and that within the month, should tenants be found, willing to sign a lease at the higher figure.

Nina and David assimilated these facts, and decided it was worth the gamble.

"Confidentially speaking," said
 McDuff, in a stage whisper,
 "there's another apartment like this on the floor above. I'd do anything in my power to rent that first... though it's $25 a month higher, on account of seeing over them two roofs in back."

It was evident that in McDuff
 they had found a friend.
 They decided to take it.
 They remained at the hotel for see Honey and Richard, tomorrow.

The Blue and White Room
 ABOUT the furnishing of the living-room, Nina had ideas.
 "David, darling, the bedroom is lovely, isn't it?"
 "I'll say it! We'll never be able to live up to it... I mean, the living-room is going to look silly."
 "Well, that's what I wanted to speak about, David. We can't afford very expensive stuff, or antiques, or anything, so why do we spend money on a lot of Grand Rapids furniture that we aren't going to like, after a while, anyway?"

"Are you suggesting that we go Japanese, my love, and sit about on the floor?"
 "No... but listen..." And thus was evolved the quite lovely room that caused so much, and such widely diversified comment.

The walls were a deep, bright blue. (The reduced month to month rate did not include redecorating, but by licking the pencil a bit, they decided to spend the $25 and have that one room painted.)

The walls, then, were a deep, bright blue. The woodwork, pure white. An inexpensive couch—a day-bed, really, and two, simple no-need, over-stuffed chairs were covered with slip covers of matching rough, blue material.
 Along the side of the day-bed, up against the wall, were three fat, white cushions, and with Bridget's help, Nina made heavy, white satin curtains that joined at the top of the windows, dragged back, and fell in luscious folds to the floor.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.
 (Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act)

STUTTERING
 It seems but a short time ago that in cases of stuttering there was supposed to be something wrong with the patient's tongue, throat, or the "speech" center in the brain. In fact pieces of apparatus to make the voice clearer or to develop the breathing were often used.

Today it is known that in the vast majority of cases, stuttering is not due to any defect in the tongue, nose, throat or the speech center, but to nervousness or emotional disturbances. A child or adult who stutters simply shows that he is nervous, upset, un-strung, or self conscious, just as another individual by his evenness of speech and lack of self-consciousness would show that he was not of the nervous or emotional type or at least had complete control of his muscular and nervous actions or reactions.

Dr. James Sommet Greene, medical director, National Hospital for Speech Disorders, New York, tells us that while the names stuttering and stammering are often used as meaning the same thing, stuttering really stands for labored, difficult, hesitant speech which interferes with the conversation, while stammering refers to defects in the way words are pronounced. In other words stammering depends on defective performance (in talking), stuttering depends on emotional disturbances. This strict distinction is not observed by many phsicians.

In an address read before the Brooklyn Academy of Pediatrics (children's diseases), Dr. Greene stated: "It has long been an acknowledged fact that a general predisposition toward emotional instability can be traced in the stammer type of child or adult."

A study of over 1000 patients who were treated in the National Hospital for Speech Disorders during the year 1935 showed that 40 per cent had stutters in their immediate family. Over 50 per cent gave a definite history of emotional instability in the family.
 A child of such a family does not necessarily inherit stuttering as such, but belongs to the stammer type and inherits nervous or emotional defects or conditions which predispose him to hesitating speech—stuttering.

On examining the hands of a stutterer when he is trying to talk they will be found to be wet with perspiration, showing the severe internal (nervous) upset-ment present.

If parents, teachers, in fact all of us, realized the intense nervous struggle going on when the stutterer tries to speak, we could help by being sympathetic, patient, and making the stutterer feel more
 "at home" with us.

"Elixir" Deaths 46, Supply Captured

Chicago, Oct. 26 (UP).—A government official said today virtually all of the elixir of sulzamide which caused 46 deaths in the nation, has been removed from the market.

J. O. Clarke, chief of the Central States division of the U. S. Food and Drug Administration, said federal investigation had confiscated or accounted for all principal shipments of the preparation. 700 bottles, mostly pint size.

Several one ounce sample bottles given to salesmen and physicians and three ounces given to a St. Louis resident by his physician were being traced. Clarke said, adding he knew almost all of the elixir had been confiscated in 20 midwestern states and had been assured of its removal from the market elsewhere.

Five deaths in Georgia, and one each at Madisonville, Tex., Copley, O., Cary, Miss., Clayton, Ala., and St. Louis, Mo., were the latest reported to the American Medical Association.

Dr. Morris Fishbein, the association's spokesman, said other deaths were being investigated to determine whether they were caused by the wine-colored preparation. Laboratory experiments disclosed diethylene glycol was the lethal agent in the mixture, he said.

Voltaire Changed His Name
The great French poet, dramatist, and philosopher known to the world as Voltaire, was Francois Marie Arouet, born in 1694, the son of Francois and Marie Marguerite Daumart Arouet. At the age of twenty-four he was imprisoned in the Bastille for writing verses that displeased the regent of France. During this imprisonment he changed his name to Arouet de Voltaire. But as time passed the "Arouet" was dropped and he became known simply as Voltaire.

Boundaries of Pennsylvania
In 1662 William Penn purchased of the Delaware Indians a tract of land in the present counties of Bucks and Northampton, Pa. Penn and a party of Indians started on a walk beginning at the mouth of Nesquehanna creek. After walking a day and a half he concluded that it was as much land as he wanted and a deed was given to the lands at that point. In 1737, after Penn's death, the tract was increased by a party of expert walkers to a point 70 miles in the interior.

Grand Teton National Park
Grand Teton National park is approximately 150 square miles in area, lies south of Yellowstone and close to the western border of Wyoming. The greater part of the Teton mountains lies within this playground. Most travelers agree that the rugged beauty of the Teton is not surpassed by that of any other mountain range in the world. Grand Teton, 13,766 feet high, rises 7,000 feet above the surrounding country. The park itself was not created until 1929.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By CLAUDE S. JAGGER

New York, Oct. 26 (AP)—Stocks developed further erratic tendencies in today's market.

Stocks Showed Gains on Monday

Stocks opened easy Monday, but pushed up rapidly and closed with good gains for the day. Chrysler was one of the favorites and there was a flood of buying orders for this stock that caused trading in the issue to be suspended for around three-quarters of an hour, the stock closing up over nine points for the day.

Industrial stocks gained 7.28 points on the Dow-Jones averages, closing at 134.43; rails were up 1.72 to 34.04; utilities advanced 1.27 to 22.11. Corporate bonds were higher, governments irregular. London, Paris and Amsterdam markets were weak, but there was a sharp upward movement in Amsterdam in street trading following the market's close, which is about an hour after the opening of the New York Exchange.

The strain on Japan's economic structure as a result of the war is indicated by reports that her export trade is falling off, that there has been a sudden resumption of gold shipments to the United States and that the government has limited cotton imports to 280,000 bales a month, 41 per cent less than the average per month for the first seven months.

For the first time in eight years, a good export demand for U. S. corn is reported. Steel schedules for this week are scheduled at 52.1 per cent of capacity, down 3.7 points from last week, according to Steel Institute. Lowest rate since week of February 17, 1936.

Indications are that the oil industry as a whole will show profit this year up 25 to 35 per cent above 1936, which year showed the highest earnings since 1929. With unprecedented demand and moderate inventories the industry is continuing to operate at record levels.

Declines and rallies were frequent. A buying spurt in Chrysler turned the tables on an opening set-back and losses of 1 to 5 points were replaced with gains of as much. The ticker tape for a brief interval was 1 minutes behind.

Dealings slowed appreciably in later proceedings and extreme upturns were reduced or cancelled in many instances. Steels followed the motors, but skidded near the final hour when Chrysler started to retrace its advance. Stocks were ragged as the session approached the finish.

Transfers were at the rate of about 2,000,000 shares. Well out in front at one time—some retreated later—were Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, National Steel, Republic, U. S. ## Slain Man Brother Of Eichler Owner, Daughter, 15, Held

Charles Breiffeller, 36, an automobile salesman, was killed at his home in Bellaire, Queens county, Monday morning. He had been stabbed with a carving knife. "I killed him," said his daughter, Gladys, 15, a student in Jamaica High School, "because he was beating my mother."

The dead man is a brother of Stephen F. Breiffeller, proprietor of the Eichler Hotel on Railroad avenue. Mr. Breiffeller said he had no particulars as to how his brother met his death, but had received a telegram stating Charles was dead. He left this afternoon for Bellaire.

Mother Defends Her

New York, Oct. 26 (AP)—Pretty Gladys Breiffeller, 15-year-old high school girl accused of stabbing her father to death, cried today in the Children's Shelter in Jamaica, Long Island. Her 34-year-old mother, Minnie, said: "What my daughter did was done in self-defense. It was his life or ours. When he was sober you wouldn't want to meet a nicer man. It all seems like a terrible dream."

She told police her husband, Charles Breiffeller, 36, came home drunk early yesterday and fell asleep in the living room of their little frame house. When she tried to make him drink black coffee at 9 a. m., Mr. Breiffeller said, he became violent and lunged at her with a kitchen knife.

Gladys attempted to wrest the knife away, said both mother and daughter. Breiffeller died with stab wounds in the back and chest.

The girl was taken to the Children's Shelter on a technical charge of juvenile delinquency. Police said she would be permitted to attend her father's funeral under the custody of a matron and then would be arraigned in children's court.

Hollywood Signs And Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—William Anthony McGuire is a movie producer now, but he must always have had the soul of one. Those stories of his from the days when he was writing Ziegfeld's shows—he's film-producing "Rosalia" now—are always cropping up.

There was the time he was being sued—one of the times—and was dodging process servers. One day he was trapped. A girl, a very pretty girl, stood on his doorstep, in her hand the fatal papers.

McGuire thought fast, ventured: "My, my, you ought to be on the stage. Ever thought of it?"

"I've always wanted to," she said.

"Well," he cinched his case, "I'll make a bargain with you. You'll be in the next Ziegfeld show, and right now you forget that subpoena."

Proving that a McGuire keeps a bargain, she was a glorified girl for two years.

Butler Was Swapped

The penthouse of the pretender to wealth, George Murphy (in the movie, "You're a Sweetheart"), is what Universal artist John Otterson, Jr., calls his first opportunity to splurge. He has splurged, effectively, through an elegant suite of five rooms and garden.

This was the setting of a scene in which David Butler, from 20th Century, was directing Alice Faye, also from 20th.

How come? "Well," said Dave, "the U. A. F. is in return for Alice Faye, and swapped a story property for me. That makes me low man in the deal."

The story property, however, was "Danger—Love at Work," and it may be a bit, which ought to elevate Butler's morale.

Ronald Got Socked

"Thoroughbreds Don't Cry" is the title of the movie in which Ronald Sinclair (formerly Ra Hould of Australia) has taken the role which normally would have been reserved for embattled Freddie Bartholomew. There was a scene in which it appeared that thoroughbreds might be socked, with or without tears.

Ronald had to get socked, ostensibly in the eye, by Mickey Rooney. Ronnie didn't know the technique of a successful movie sock. He had to leave it entirely up to Rooney, who of course knows how to hit painlessly.

Even those critics who have disliked Ra Hould as too much an imitation of Bartholomew would have cheered him then. He seemed to sense the tension, the uncertainty, and finally volunteered to solve it in his own way.

"Mr. Green," he piped, "I don't mind taking a bit of a bump, you know."

Stanley S. Crick, managing director of 20th Century-Fox Film Corporation (Australia), Ltd., returned to Australia after a tour of American, England and Europe. He said he was convinced Australia was the happiest and cheapest place in the world in which to live.

You don't rent a thing in England—you hire it.

The owner's name in his hat might prove handy in a case like this:

The young attorney was sent out of town to interview an important client in regard to a case. Later the head of his firm received the following telegram:

"Have forgotten name of client. Please wire at once."

This was the reply: "Client's name Whitehead. Your name Burkey."

If we could only have a congress from which nothing was expected nobody would be disappointed.

"I don't even shake hands with them any more," a local man declared, referring to certain ones with whom he refused to associate. "I'd be afraid I wouldn't get my fingers back."

It is better to leave out the rye.

Mother—After all, he's only a boy, and boys will sow their wild oats.

Father—I wouldn't mind if he did not mix in so much rye.

The flapper's small brother was peeking around the corner of the door while her boy friend helped her hold the davenport.

Young Lady—I'll give you a drum if you'll go to bed.

Kiddle—I don't want a drum, I want a watch.

Broadway: "Stage Door." A real dramatic treat is to be seen at the Broadway in this screen adaptation of the stage success and the entire production is a smooth and realistic commentary on those girls who seek fame behind the footlights. All the heartache, the failure, the dreams and hopes that go into the making of a stage career are brought out with startling effect in this film and the work of Katherine Hepburn, Ginger Rogers and Adolphe Menjou leaves little to be desired. Gregory LaCava directed this RKO-Radio picture and accessory players include Gail Patrick, Constance Collier and Andrea Leeds.

Kingston: "The Man Who Cried Wolf." A couple of gothic melodramas make up the double feature at the Kingston, the first a murder mystery with a brand new twist and featuring Lewis Stone, Tom Brown and Barbara Read; the second a story of hockey players with Charles Quigley and Rita Hayworth.

Orpheum: "Something to Sing About." The irrepressible James Cagney returns to the screen after a long vacation and immediately proves why he is still one of the top ranking players in the cinema industry. For Mr. Cagney, aside from being an effective actor, is also versatile beyond belief. With a rather ordinary plot, he transforms an average story into a melodrama of excitement and realness as it tells the story of

Walter Regendahls Celebrate Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Regendahl are celebrating their golden wedding today at their residence, 98 Greenkill avenue, where they have lived for five years, coming here from Union Hill, N. J., where they had resided for 45 years of their happy married life.

Over half a century ago Mr. Regendahl first met Miss Louise R. Woehr. She was then living with her parents in the old Woehr homestead on Greenkill avenue. Since then the old homestead has been thoroughly modernized and the happy couple for the past five years has been living in the same house where they first met so many years ago.

It was on October 26, 1887, in the Spring Street Lutheran Church that they took their wedding vows. The ceremony was performed by the late Rev. J. Steinhauser. The same day they left for a honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls, and from there proceeded to Union Hill and Union City, where a newly furnished home awaited them and it was there that they were to spend 45 years of their married life.

Mr. Regendahl, who is a retired railroad man, entered the employ of the New York Central Railroad when 17 years of age, when he left Kingston, where he was born, to work on the railroad in New York City.

In 1883 he was transferred to the West Shore Railroad where he rounded out his many years of service, finally retiring from active duty on January 31, 1921, and shortly afterwards removing to Kingston with his wife to take up their abode in the old Woehr homestead, where his wife was born and had lived her early life.

Mr. Regendahl retired from railroad service after spending 53 years in the employ of the railroad, both on the New York Central and the West Shore division. He was first employed as a fireman and was elevated to engineer in 1886.

"I'll never forget that year," said Mr. Regendahl, "for it was the year of the big blizzard." With his promotion to the post of engineer, which post he held until he retired in 1921, he served as engineer on both the passenger and freight service of the road.

During his more than half century of service as a railroad man Mr. Regendahl became widely and favorably known, not only to his fellow railroad men, but also to the traveling public.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Regendahl during their half century of married life have made a host of friends and today were the recipients of many cards of remembrance and gifts on this their golden wedding day.

Schoolwomen's Club MODES of the MOMENT

Fall Meeting Held

by Adelaide Kerr

The fall meeting of the Schoolwomen's Club of the Hudson Valley was held at Newburgh Wednesday at 8:30 p. m.

A delicious dinner was served at the "Marion Miller Tearoom." Following the dinner Miss Edna Craig of Newburgh, president of the club, presented Superintendent of Schools M. W. Longman who welcomed the members and guests.

The main speaker of the evening was Dr. William H. Carr of the conservation department at Bear Mountain Park. Dr. Carr spoke about his work which he illustrated with many beautiful slides.

Following the lecture a short business session was held. The officers of the club are: Edna Craig, Newburgh, president; Bertha Talt, Cold Spring, vice-president; Helen Cowles, Kingston, recording secretary; Fannie Gill, Newburgh, corresponding secretary; Ada S. Fuller, Kingston, treasurer.

Sorosis Studies Textiles

Mrs. Harry P. Van Wagenen was hostess to Sorosis Tuesday at her home on John street. The study subject for the day was "Textiles." With Mrs. Herbert Darrow reading the paper, Mrs. Darrow discussed the five textiles: wool, silk, cotton, linen and rayon and traced the development of their manufacture from the early days when manufacturing was done in the home to the present large factory system. Mrs. Darrow illustrated her talk with several samples of the materials which showed the textile alone and in combination.

Report on the Federation meeting last Thursday was made by Mrs. W. M. Mills. Roll call consisted of Bible quotations concerned with textiles such as tributes to purple and fine linen or remarks on the weaver's trade. Sorosis will meet next week with Mrs. Edward C. DeWitt at her home on Schryver Court.

Federation to Have Exhibition, Lecture

The first open meeting of the Federation of Women's Clubs will be on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Fair Street Reformed Church, to which each member will be allowed a guest privilege. A business meeting at 2:30 o'clock will precede the open meeting.

R. W. Wolcseke of Woodstock, looking on "Art," and Howard Koch, speaking of "Ulster County Theatre Association and its plans for the winter will be the guest speakers.

The Federation will celebrate National Art Week with an exhibit of pictures, old jewelry, china and glassware. Anyone in the city who desires to exhibit is asked to bring articles to the church on Saturday morning. Arranging the exhibit will be Mrs. William Cranston, Mrs. R. H. Bartlett and Miss Eleanor Easton. Further information may be obtained from the chairman, Mrs. Bartlett.

Members of the Twentieth Century Club will act as hostesses for the meeting.

"England" at 20th Century Club

Members of the Twentieth Century Club studied England at the regular meeting Monday held at the home of Miss Ella Bernard, on Albany avenue. Roll call was answered by Mrs. T. H. Edmonston, who gave a short sketch of Stanley Baldwin, whose reputation is part of the heritage of England, and Mrs. Maxwell Taylor, who spoke of Sir Robert van Sittard, versatile writer of plays, and the man behind Sir John Simon.

The club members were reminded of the Federation Convention in Albany for which Mrs. Taylor was chosen as a delegate.

The first paper of the afternoon on "England's Royal Family," was by Mrs. B. C. Van Ingen, and gave a graphic description of the present royal family from the accession of Queen Mary, with her dignity and graciousness, of the reverence of the English people for King George V, their family of four sons and one daughter, the rise to the throne of the Prince of Wales after the death of his father, and his later abdication, of the present King, George VI, and his family of two girls.

The second paper on "England's Economic Status" was given by Mrs. Robert Simon and dealt with the difficulties confronting England after the World War, of the campaign to bring back business and industries to England and the dominions with the slogan, "Buy British," with the tariff schedule and the new freedom of thought which had developed among the dominions, India, Australia and British Africa interested in the development of their own trade, England by much diplomacy bringing back the confidence of her people and prosperity, the death of King George V, the accession, abdication and coronation, the reaction of the dominions not to be ignored, the war in Spain, a great menace to British shipping and the China-Japanese war in which British interests will suffer greatly.

Y.P.F. Enjoy Supper Meeting

The Young People's Fellowship of St. John's Church held a supper party at the rectory on Sunday evening. The group was addressed by Ellis T. Bookwater, who has recently come to Kingston and is in charge of the Boys' Work in the local Y. M. C. A. Mr. Bookwater spoke informally on the subject of "Hobbies" and described several which had come under his experience such as basketry, metal work, photography and stamp collecting. He emphasized the need of having a hobby in the light of the increasing leisure time and said that to the person who had a hobby in which he was really interested, there could never be too much leisure time.

In conclusion, Mr. Bookwater stated that to his way of thinking, one who lacked a hobby was not living a full life and that hobbies often became profitable, sighting various instances where that had proved true.

There followed a short discussion in which each member of the group told of his particular hobby and what had been done with it. The group gathered at the fire and the piano for songs, stunts and games and an enjoyable social hour.

Home Institute YOU'RE LUCKY IF YOU'RE NERVOUS

You Can Turn Your "Nerves" Into Charm

Stop reproaching yourself Joan. Your jitters, your miserable "nerves," are really luck in disguise.

For "nerves" are a sign you're more alert, more responsive and high spirited than ordinary people. You have only to straighten out the kinks that have twisted these delightful qualities into irritability, headaches, indigestion—and you'll become the radiant, magnetic person you were meant to be.

First, stop trying to tie yourself to a deadly routine. If the laundry comes late or if a visitor upsets your plans for dinner you're ready to scream.

Break the chains. Placid little Maisie may live on a treadmill happily, but a sensitive, high-strung nature like yours can't do it. Play hooky when your nerves are on edge. Go to a show, ramble idly with a friend, see what a lovely world it is.

Next, don't pour your emotional energies into grooves too small for them. You live too tensely for too few people. When one of the few disappoint you, you go to pieces, make a shattering scene.

Go out. Meet more people. Enjoy each friend for his special quality—John for his clever talk, Mary for her sweet sympathy—and don't expect the world from any one. Your new poise and understanding combined with your vivid charm make you a fascinating companion—one to be sought after instead of avoided.

But whatever you do, don't let "nerves" run on or risk a breakdown. In our 40-page booklet, HOW TO AVOID AND OVERCOME NERVOUS TROUBLES, a well-known practicing nerve specialist explains the many causes of nerves, tells how to overcome them and win your way to health, charm, youthful vitality.

Send 15c for our booklet, HOW TO AVOID AND OVERCOME NERVOUS TROUBLES, to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Institute.

Binghamton, N. Y., Oct. 26 (AP).—The Baptist women's State Board had a new president today. Elected last night prior to the opening of the State Baptist Convention was Mrs. Edgar Smith of Brockport. She succeeds Mrs. T. Warren Ashton of Brooklyn, resigned. Features of the opening session of the convention today were to be the annual sermon by Dr. Elmer A. Use of Word "Bit"
"Bit" is the British slang for any small coin. The expression was transferred, in the South and West, in the United States, to the old Mexican real, worth 12½ cents, an amount which at one time was called a shilling in certain eastern states. In those regions within the Mexican sphere of influence, quare is said to be almost unknown. A short-bit is 10 cents, and a long-bit is 15 cents. Four bits and six bits are common there, but people east of the Mississippi get confused trying to compute bits at 12½ cents each.

In many parts of the world the weather man can tell pretty accurately what the weather will be for weeks or even months ahead. The St. Lawrence river, for instance, becomes frozen over the second week in December and water flows again mid-April at the earliest. Near the equator it is always the same, very hot and very moist, but a little hotter and a little moister at the time of the equinoxes. L. # Friday Boxing Card Expected To Fill House

Birdseye View Of Sports Events

By EDDIE BRIETZ

New York, Oct. 26 (AP)—Don't look now, but a southern and a mid-western college are flirting with Doug Dashiell, hustling, young head coach of the U. of Nevada. Each offers a three-year contract. . . . Yep, Doug is a-listening. Sports scribes in the deep South are beating in the tom-toms to land Frank (Bruiser) Kinard, U. of Mississippi tackle; Walter Mayberry, Florida halfback, and Quinton Lumpkin, Georgia center, on the AP All-America. Rival coaches are lending a hand, too, so the lads must be pretty near tops. . . . This week's feed box special is Yale over Dartmouth. Take it or leave it.

Good luck and plenty of it to old Casey Stengel up there in Beantown. . . . If you ask us, prey Bob Quinn made another of his shrewd moves. . . . Baby Stribling, who once showed promise as a fighter, now is a high pressure auto salesman at Hattiesburg, Miss. . . . Pa is president of the firm and Ma is vice-pres. . . . Business is booming. . . . Henry Armstrong is a 3 to 2 favorite to life Percy Sarron's featherweight crown Friday night when Mike Jacobs bows into the garden. . . . Al Jolson, the mammoth singer (who only once sang) never has taken a cent of Armstrong's ring earnings.

Ralph Gold, the fight manager, is taking bows for going to England and snagging Ginger Foran, called the best featherweight in the Empire. . . . New York senses, busy doing for him, say, Christmas supper for him, say, another bid for Dolph Camilli of the Falls is the next piece of Giant business. (Which would be O. K. for Dolph). . . . Birthday greetings to a good natured fat guy down in Corsicana, Tex., who used to be quite a help in getting out this chapter. . . . That Gus Mancuso practicing with Les Canadensis hockey team at Montreal is not the Giant catcher.

Florida fans wish Josh Cody would trot out a ball of fire named Hanna who is being kept under blankets for next year. . . . They are running a contest down there to get the most appropriate nickname for the kid. . . . Joe Gould, who piloted Jimmy Braddock to the heavyweight title, has taken Tom Beaupre, Dallas heavyweight, under his wing and is on the market for a leading southern lightweight. . . . Just three years ago today, John A. Heydler, resigned after 15 years of distinguished service as president of the National League.

That new Pitt athletic policy was kept secret since July because Pitt felt it would only be laughed at for trying to reform its football. . . . Two Smoky City scribes, Jess Carver and Chet Smith, found out Panther players really were pushing brooms, etc., and informed Athletic Director James Hagan they were going to print what they knew about his New Deal. . . . So he decided to align himself. . . . One and all say Hagan is a grand fellow and 100 per cent sincere in what he is trying to do. . . . John McLaughry, son of the Brown head coach, played in every minute of the Connecticut State, Rhode Island State and Harvard games.

COLONIALS BACK IN 1923

Colonials to Drill on Fouls, Fan Suggests Fine For Misses

This afternoon the Kingston Colonials were scheduled to work out at the municipal auditorium for their game with the Renais-sance, Wednesday night, and Pop Morganewick said he intended to lay special emphasis on foul shooting.

"We can't continue to miss those foul shots and stay out in front," said the Old Maestro, recalling Sunday's skirmish with the Kavanaghs in the Bronx. The Colonials flunked on nine free throws.

There should be a fine every time a player misses a free one, suggested a fan listening in on the conversation.

"You're right," nodded Morganewick. "A major league basketball player should not miss fouls."

"There's another thing I'm going to harp on," continued the veteran player. "My players must get that ball to a man who is open for a shot. If he doesn't know how, then he's not big time material."

"It is just as important to a basketball player to know this as it is for a major league baseball player to know how to bunt."

After the Ren's game, Morganewick will be the punting knife to his squad of 11 men. "We must get right down to the bone," he said. "If we want to keep running, Wednesday's contest should be a real test, one that will enable me to determine which men are the most valuable."

Morganewick's crew right now con-

Association for Baseball Umps

New York, Oct. 26 (AP)—Honus Wagner, commissioner of semi-pro baseball, announced today that a national association of umpires was being formed in connection with the arrangements for the 1938 series of national tournaments which lead up to the national championship tournament.

Ernest C. Quigley, supervisor of National League umpires, will serve as head of the organization and umpire-in-chief of the National Semi-Pro Congress, Wagner said. The association will include about 10,000 sand lot umpires, each of whom will receive a copy of the semi-pro rules to be published next year. A department will be maintained for interpretation of rules.

Carlisle Husta Still Strong. Fourteen years ago, Carlisle Husta romped the boards as a star of the Kingston Colonials, and he is going strong still for the same club under the management of Frank "Pop" Morganewick. Carlisle is the smiling youngster (then) on the left in the rear, next to Mergie to whom he has stuck since the Old Maestro took him out of Egg Harbor and introduced him to the profession as basketball world. This year Husta is captain of the Colonials.

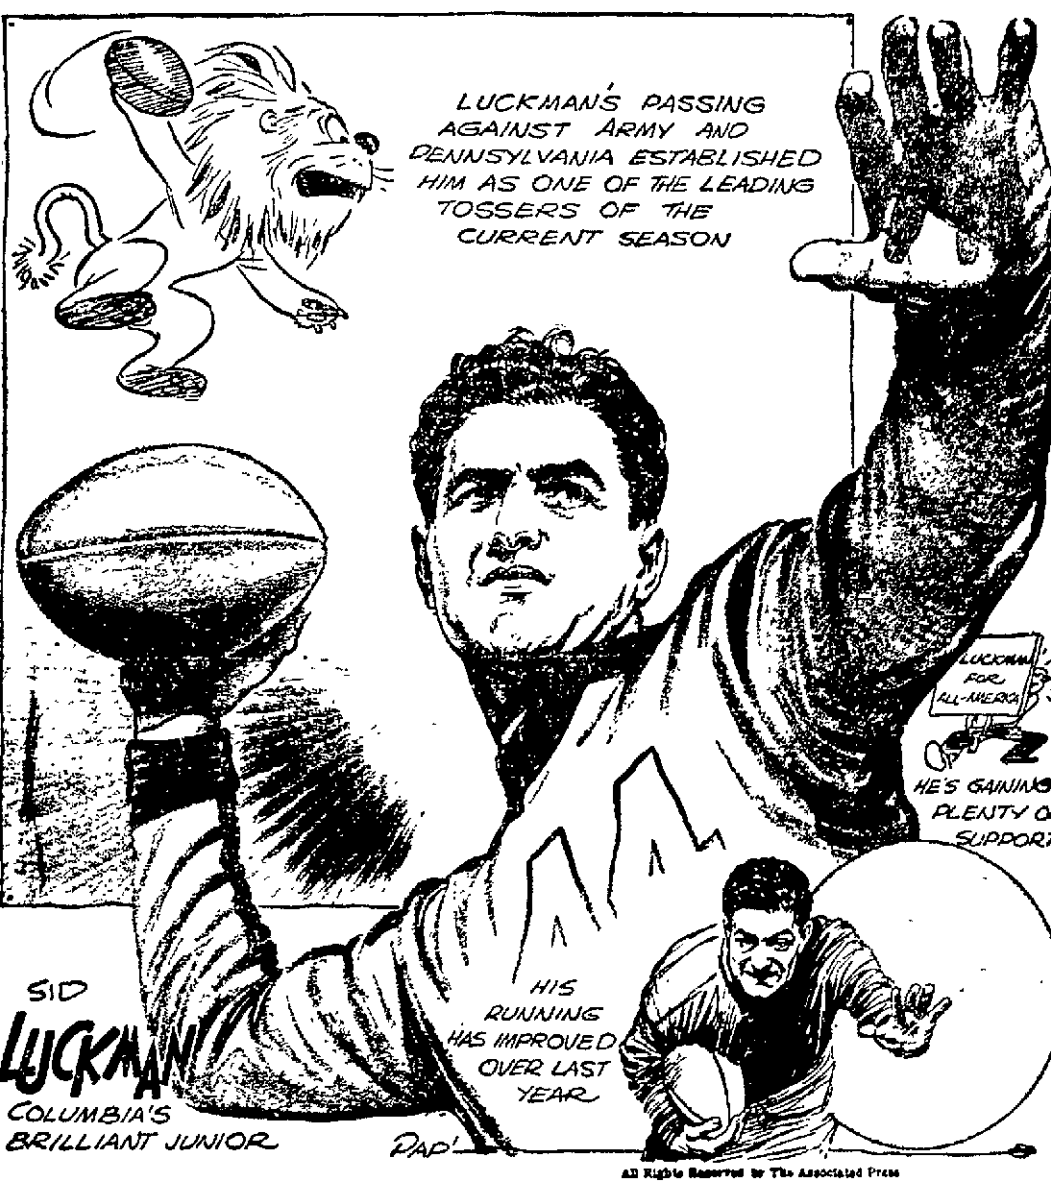

This picture, taken when the Morganewicks played in what was then the arena, now the municipal auditorium shows all of the old Kingston favorites. Rear standing, Carlisle Husta, Frank Morganewick, manager, Charley Powers, Ed Fitzgerald (deceased), amateur who handled tickets, and George Arick Front, seated, Mickey Husta, Nick Harvey and Honny Borgmann, who was the scoring sensation of the club.

With the exception of Carlisle Husta and Borgmann, who gets into a gym game now and then for exercise only, this "Old Gang" has retired from basketball. They were a great crew, as Morganewick says, and he'd feel easier concerning tomorrow's game with the Ren's if some of the audience if he could send that same lineup in to defend the banner of the Colonials.

Dean Detton, former heavy-weight champion of the world, comes to grips with Chief Thunderbird, sensational Indian, in the main two out of three fall bout at Tenth Infantry armory in Albany tonight, in what he hopes will be the first step in his drive to gain a return battle with Bronko Nagurski for the title.

Roar, Lion, Roar!

—By Pap

So far as Robert Louis Hoffman is concerned, the search for the all-America left halfback is over. His choice begins and ends with Sid Luckman, Columbia's brilliant junior.

The season may be only one-third completed, Hoffman admits, but with a vehemence which only an embryonic Blackstone such as he can muster, he argues that in three games this season Luckman did enough to earn a place on any body's mythical team.

"In three games—against Williams, Army and Pennsylvania," he points out, "Luckman found receivers for 30 of 55 attempted passes for a total gain of 439 yards. He tossed two touchdown passes against Army and repeated the performance against Penn. Eighteen of his passes found their mark in the Army game for 202 yards. Five of the seven tosses he made against Penn were completed for 117 yards. Pitching like that should entitle him to a place on the team even if he had nothing more."

But Luckman's preference doesn't stop there. He can carry the ball with the best. He showed that against Army when he took a kick-off on his own 20-yard line and raced through the entire Cadet team to score. And again, against Penn, when he took the ball over the goal, gained 65 yards from scrimmage and picked up 78 yards on punt run-backs and one interception of a Penn forward pass.

"Doesn't that convince you that Luckman springs from the mold from which all-Americans are made?" It is all very impressive. But three games hardly make a season. You do have to admit that if Sid Luckman carries on at the same blazing pace it is going to be very difficult to keep him off the honor roll.

The improvement shown by Luckman, especially in the ball-carrying department, is amazing. He was a good passer last year and a fair runner, but this fall he emerged a great runner as well as an improved passer. The hours the Columbia coaching staff spent tutoring him in the art of running with the ball have borne fruit.

One Star Cager Colonials Must Watch Closely

PAPPY RICKS

Wednesday the Renaissance, colored champions of the world in basketball, are coming. They'll meet Pop Morganewick's Colonials at the Kingston Auditorium, and run them right off their feet if they are not in shape for a severe test.

Pappy Ricks is one of the ebony stars who'll be in the lineup of the visitors. He's a dangerous man with the ball, and Morganewick's colonials will have to keep their eyes on him in every play.

Whoever big time basketball is played, the Renaissance players can be found. Whenever they play, the house is packed. A capacity attendance is expected at Wednesday's game.

Brooks Jenkins, the Renaissance star, will be known colored luminaries of the court as Pats Jenkins, Willie Smith, Eysa Storch, Tazian Cooper, Bill Holt, Bill Vancov and Richards.

Starting line of the game is 7:30 at the Kingston Auditorium. The full Colonials, against the Doughkeepers, will be in the line.

Bronko Nagurski In N. Y. Sunday

Chicago, Oct. 26 (AP)—The bronko is bucking again, which may be bad news for the New York Giants next Sunday.

After a mediocre season in 1936 because of injuries, Bronko Nagurski of the Chicago Bears again is in the straddle which has won him recognition as the greatest line crusher in the National Professional Football League. On his broad shoulders, at the Polo Grounds in New York Sunday, will ride most of the Bears' hopes of downing the Eastern Division leaders and of continuing undebated toward the western section and league title.

Nagurski, with the rest of the Bears, had an off day yesterday and it was time to plan the wrestling campaign he will carry on both during and after the football season. He has matches arranged, he said, for November 3 in New York and November 17 in Los Angeles.

Clinton M. E. Aces Back on Court

The Clinton Avenue Aces, Church League champions of last season, will present a veteran line up on the court again this season. Playing at home and on the road the Aces compiled a brilliant record last year. They finished the last half of the church loop with six straight victories, and then trimmed the Red-empters two straight in the playoffs. On the road they met the leading teams of the valley.

The Aces will again represent Clinton Avenue M. E. in the church league, which inaugurates its season next Monday night on the "V" court. In the forward horris the Aces have Walter Myers, Chet Baltz and "Alder-man" Haines. "Cowboy" Every will again hold down the center position, while in the backcourt Don Boyce, Babe Schreiber and "Gus" Boyce will perform.

Solem Talks to His Blockers

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 26 (AP)—Coach Ossie Solem concentrated today on perfecting the offensive weakness shown in films of the Syracuse defeat Saturday at Baltimore by Maryland.

Solem instructed blockers to hit less sluggishly in clearing the way for ball carriers after pointing out where half-hearted blocks ruin chances for long runs.

Golden Bears Remain on Top As Grid Choice

New York, Oct. 26 (AP)—California's Golden Bears, by a landslide vote of endorsement among the country's newspaper experts, remain the nation's No. 1 college football team for the second successive week.

Following their smashing victory over Southern California, the Bears were accorded top place in 48 of the 57 "first ten" selections contributed to this week's Associated Press national ranking roundup and tabulated today. Last week only 24 rated California at the head of the class, but the feeling now is pronounced that the Bears are moving rapidly toward Pacific coast honors, including the Rose Bowl nomination.

The Poll.

This week's poll was marked by a big shake-up in the lower brackets, but the "top five" remained the same, except for Pittsburgh's displacement of Alabama in the No. 2 spot. Here's the tabulation, scoring each list on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis, and with first place votes indicated in brackets:

First Ten
1—California (18)	506
2—Pittsburgh (37)	458
3—Alabama	337
4—Minnesota (2)	321
5—Yale (2)	321
6—Baylor (1)	226
7—Vanderbilt (1)	226
8—Ohio State	167
9—Dartmouth	146
10—Fordham	122

Second Ten: 11—Nebraska, 121; 12—Ansburn, 53; 13—Duke, 54; 14—Santa Clara, 53; 15—North Carolina, 16; 16—Villanova, 13; 17—Louisiana State, 12; 18—Holy Cross and Detroit, tied at 9 each; 20—Arkansas, 8; Colorado and Army received three votes each, Texas

Hens Go Collegiate To Defray Tuition Of Three Students In Indiana School

Upland, Ind. (AP)—When Hazel and Mable Jane Smith and their brother, Logan, entered Taylor university this fall, they brought with them 400 chickens and three goats.

The chickens and goats are to earn the Smiths' way through the university. The trio really is four, because Logan's wife, Opal, came with them. She's to be their housekeeper.

It's a habit with the Smith family, farmers near Hagerstown, Omer Smith, the father, originated the poultry method of financing college expenses when his oldest daughter, Martha, started to Taylor in 1929. Martha kept chickens through her five years of university training. She now is teaching school at Coulterville, Ill.

Egg Market Good

The three Smiths now in school arrived by truck and moved into a four-room house. The job of registering for classes had to wait until the flock of chickens were housed in two poultry buildings and the goats turned out to pasture.

The egg market is good and the Smiths figure the net profits for the winter from sale of eggs will be $800. School expenses for the three will be about $625 and living costs $300. Thus, the hens come close to paying the entire bill.

Hazel, now 22, is in her senior year. Logan, 20, is a junior and Mable Jane, 18, is a freshman.

Opal keeps house for the other three in the home which they rent for $100 a year.

The chickens have been bought each year from their father at $1 each. When school is over they sell them back to their father at the same price and since most laying hens sell for $1.50 after a year's production, Mr. Smith doesn't do badly either.

The feed is bought at home and trucked to Upland.

Hens Get Extra Meal

Last year the youthful egg merchants didn't do so well. The market was bad and they had some hens which turned out to be "cannibals" and killed many of the others. Net profit for the year was only about $300.

They hope to make up a little of that this year. They have installed lights in the poultry houses which are turned on automatically from 9:30 to 10:30 each night.

The lights cause the hens to eat an extra meal and lay more eggs, the Smiths say.

All three members of the family know the poultry business thoroughly. Their father operates a poultry farm where he maintains 12,000 chickens.

hold including Bobby, who never played with matches again, knew that on the corner down the street was fire alarm box No. 36.

The second best essay was the work of Dorothy Coughlin of St. Joseph's School.

Fire Prevention

Fire causes, every year, the needless loss of about two millions of dollars' worth of property.

Fire prevention week to be observed October 2-9, 1937 throughout the United States by Presidential Proclamation, is the anniversary of the Chicago fire of October 9, 1871, which destroyed the city and caused a loss of 200 lives.

How can fire be prevented? We must be careful in the use of matches, oily rags, gasoline, chimneys, etc.

Matches should be kept in a safe place especially out of reach of children, because they may accidentally strike a match, and start a fire.

Oily rags should be properly kept in a metal container for sometimes spontaneous combustions occurs.

Gasoline is dangerous to have in the home. We should be careful when using gasoline, especially when cleaning dresses and the like because the rubbing may cause friction, and friction a spark. When this occurs the gasoline explodes and causes fire. One may be badly burned from this kind of accident.

Chimneys and stove pipes should be properly cleaned every year. There should be no paper or rubbish left near heaters, as this may cause a fire.

It is well to know the nearest fire box to our home and to know how to send in a fire alarm. This sometimes may mean the saving of a home and maybe a life.

I think these are the most important things to remember, not only during Fire Prevention Week, but every week of the year as well.

Duplicate awards for the third best essay were given to Miss Edna Short of Public School No. 9 and to Miss Constance Purvis, who is a student at St. Peter's School.

Miss Short's essay reads as follows:

Fire Prevention in the Home.
Bells clanging! People running! Weird cries of fire! The dreaded word of "fire" is echoed through a city as someone's home goes up in flames. Probably there will be death and another family left penniless and without a home.

Perhaps it was mother's fault for leaving matches where small children could reach them. Perhaps it was father's fault for putting the lighted cigar down when he thought it was out. Perhaps it was sister's fault for leaving old, oily rags in a warm closet. Perhaps it was brother's fault for not cleaning the trash out of the

Milton.

Milton, Oct. 25.—The topic of the P. T. A. program presented the regular meeting held in the Milton school Thursday was health. Principal Carl Ernst acted as program chairman, and with his pupils gave a health demonstration lesson in the class room of the new building. This was followed by singing, conducted by School Music Supervisor Lingo in the auditorium. A talk on Physical Education was given by John Schilling, physical instructor. Miss Milna Strohm, school examinations and health report nurse, spoke briefly on stripped cards. Dr. J. A. Manzella gave an instructive talk on Health in General. Interesting reports of the National P. T. A. convention held in New York recently, were given by Mrs. Myron Hazen, who is district chairman of exhibits, and Mrs. Howard Barton, district chairman of parent education.

Mrs. Hazen spoke on the human side of the convention and Mrs. Barton gave a resume of panels and lectures. Mr. Ernst announced a victory had been presented to the Milton P. T. A. by Mrs. William Greiner of Marlborough. Mrs. James Scott, P. T. A. president, presided over the business which followed the program. The observance of school open house day will be from November 7 to 13. Parents and friends are urged to visit the class rooms. The county P. T. A. meeting will be held in the Milton school the week of November 15. The exact date will be announced later. County Leader, Mrs. Lewis Pelletier will preside. The next meeting of the association will be held Thursday evening, November 18.

colly rags often catches fire in this way.

Other precautions we should take are: Flues should be cleaned every fall to prevent chimney fires. Ashes should not be put in wooden boxes or barrels, but instead into a metal can. A screen should be placed in front of a fireplace especially when there is no one in the room to keep watch. We should see that the electric cord on our iron and toaster is not frayed. An iron should never be left connected when we leave the house.

D. A. R. Offers Gunnery Trophy

Announcement of a new award to the navy for competition in anti-aircraft gunnery was made today by Mrs. William A. Becker, president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The trophy consists of a bronze plaque showing an anti-aircraft gun-crew in action against a squadron of hostile planes. It bears the inscription "Presented by the Daughters of the American Revolution for excellence in anti-aircraft gunnery."

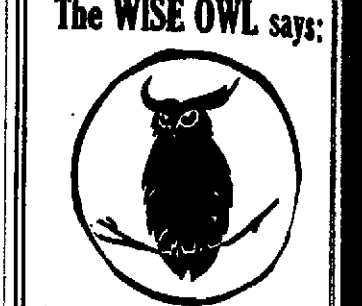

Each year the plaque will be awarded to the U. S. Destroyer making the highest score in anti-aircraft gunnery. It is the fifth trophy of its kind given the navy by the D. A. R. In 1931, under the administration of Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart, the D. A. R. presented three plaques for anti-aircraft gunnery competition on battleships, heavy cruisers and light cruisers. Last year a fourth trophy was added—to the aircraft carrier class.

Around each plaque are small bronze shields upon which the name of the winning ship in each year's competition is engraved. The plaques are awarded to the winning ships each year in the various classes.
